

DOGSO teamwork

Clip 5

The player in white gets a slight touch on the ball putting it past the keeper and then is fouled by the goalkeeper outside of the area. This is good teamwork by both the assistant referee and referee to first determine that the offence took place outside of the penalty area and then determine that this is a clear DOGSO offence as there are no defenders behind the goalkeeper, the offence takes place right outside the penalty area, the direction is going straight at the goal, and the control/likelihood of control of the ball is clearly evident in this clip. Overall, good communication by both Mat Richardson and Alex Tyshkevych to get this decision right on the field.
